CIVIL WAR

HERITAGE TRAILS

Alabama
Georgia
South Carolina
"Along the Trails"
Upcoming Events

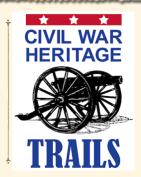

July 2015

NEWSLETTER

Issue No.36

www.CivilWarHeritageTrails.org

In July 1864 Union Major General William T. Sherman's armies were closing-in on Atlanta. He sought to hasten the city's fall by sending Major General George Stoneman's division...

Continued on Page 2

Honor Your Ancestors and Help Tell Their Story

Continued on Page 4

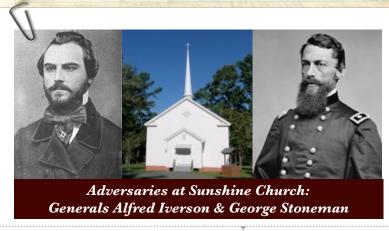

Upcoming Civil War Events in Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina

AL - The End of an Era

GA - Celebration - A. H. Stephens

SC - Archaeology at Mitchelville

Continued on Page 5

Atlanta Campaign and March to the Sea Brochures

"Along the Trails"

Stoneman's Raid

http://www.civilwarheritagetrails.org/ga-civil-war-trails-map/ga-atlanta-campaign.html http://www.civilwarheritagetrails.org/ga-civil-war-trails-map/ga-march-to-the-sea.html

In July 1864 Union Major General William T. Sherman's armies were closing-in on Atlanta. He sought to hasten the city's fall by sending Major General George Stoneman's division of 2,100 cavalrymen, assisted by a second division, to cut the only railroad still re-supplying Confederate-held Atlanta (entering that city from the south). Stoneman's division departed Decatur on July 27th, riding east through Covington before turning south. Unable to locate a suitable ford across the Ocmulgee River, Stoneman continued riding south with the hope of liberating Federal prisoners held in Confederate stockades at Macon and Andersonville.

Interpretive marker -- The Old DeKalb County Courthouse -- Veterans Monument Decatur GA: "Old DeKalb County Courthouse" (#28) - GPS: 33.7750, -84.2966

Interpretive marker on Covington Square -- Veterans Monument -- Newton County Courthouse Covington GA: "Covington Square" (#L4) - GPS: 33.5965, -83.8601

Follow the Civil War Heritage Trails * www.CivilWarHeritageTrails.org * Facebook * Twitter * YouTube * Pinterest

CIVIL WAR HERITAGE TRAILS

General Stoneman sent a small party to destroy railroad facilities at Gordon and elsewhere before skirmishing with Confederates at Fort Hawkins and other locations near Macon. Abandoning his rescue effort, Stoneman began re-tracing his route back north. On Sunday, July 31st, Confederate Brigadier General Alfred Iverson's 1,300 cavalrymen blocked the Federals' route near Sunshine Church.

Gordon Depot Museum --- New interpretive marker --- Historic railroad facilities in Gordon Gordon GA: "Gordon" (#R12) - GPS: 32.8818, -83.3340

Interpretive marker --- Fort Hawkins --- New Fort Hawkins Visitor Center Macon GA: "Fort Hawkins" - GPS: 32.8496, -83.6118

"Sunshine Church II" --- New interpretive marker -- Sunshine Church, marker and memorial Round Oak GA: "Battle of Sunshine Church" (#R8) - GPS: 33.1090, -83.6162

CIVIL WAR HERITAGE TRAILS

Many thanks to the following contributors who have recently donated to Civil War Heritage Trails[™] in order to honor their ancestors and help tell their story.

Laura Mitchell:

Private Andrew J. Autry, Company E, 12th Georgia Infantry

Dr. Marshall P. Waters III:

Sergeant John Nicholas Waters, Company E, 27th Georgia Infantry

Beverly Moody:

Private John L. T. Morgan, Company E, 8th Georgia Cavalry

Civil War Heritage Trails is a 501c3 non-profit organization supported through the generosity of many individuals, organizations and communities. This support is essential to telling the stories of the Civil War era throughout Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina. Now you have the opportunity to add your support and at the same time honor your Civil War era ancestor(s) who served and sacrificed so much.

For each $25 tax deductible donation, your name along with the name, rank and unit (if known) of one of your ancestors will be displayed in a future newsletter issue, and on our website for an entire year. You will also have the satisfaction of knowing the Civil War era history they helped to make will be told for present and future generations to discover throughout Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina.

To donate, go to our donor webpage. Please be sure to provide us with the name(s) and unit(s) of your ancestor(s).

If you prefer to donate by mail, please include your check and ancestor's information, and address your envelope to:

Civil War Heritage Trails POB 1864 Evans, GA 30809

Your name plus that of your ancestor(s) will appear in a future issue of our newsletter, and on our website for an entire year. A donation receipt will also be mailed to you for your tax purposes.

To send us this information by donating through Paypal or Credit Card, go to Civil War Heritage Trails

Questions:
ContactUs@CivilWarHeritageTrails.org

Upcoming Events

Alabama: The End of an Era - July 1 through 31, Tannehill Ironworks Historical State Park, 12632 Confederate Parkway, McCalla AL. This museum exhibit features Civil War artifacts relating to the cavalry raid which destroyed the Tannehill Ironworks and other industrial sites in Alabama in the closing days of the war. Open Tuesdays through Fridays 8:30 am to 4:30 pm, Saturdays 9:00 am to 4:30 pm, Sundays 12:30 to 4:30 pm. Closed on Mondays. Admission charged. 205-477-5711, http://tannehill.org/

Georgia: Old Fashioned Independence Day Celebration at A. H. Stephens - Saturday, July 4, 10:00 am to 1:00 pm, A. H. Stephens State Park, 456 Alexander Street NW, Crawfordville GA. Events begin with a bicycle parade. Old-time games include sack races, three-legged races, relays, egg and water balloon tosses, and a paddle boat race. Alexander Hamilton Stephens was Vice President of the Confederate States. The Stephens home, Liberty Hall, is fully furnished and open for tours. Adjacent to Liberty Hall is a museum with one of the finest collections of Civil War artifacts in Georgia. Park admission: $2.00/person plus $5.00 parking fee. 706-456-2602, http://gastateparks.org/AHStephens

South Carolina: Finding Freedom's Home: Archaeology at Mitchelville - July 1 through 31, South Carolina State Museum, 301 Gervais Street, Columbia SC. This exhibit highlights the rich history of the freedman's town of Mitchelville, South Carolina. The exhibit tells the story of nearby enslaved people who fled their plantations for the Union lines after Union occupation of Port Royal in November 1861. Recent archaeological discoveries are included from the site of Mitchelville, which help tell the story of formerly enslaved men and women who rebuilt their lives, legal system, schools, churches and homes after becoming free. These findings are important clues to the life in one of the first self-governing freedmen's communities in the United States. Mondays through Fridays 10:00 am to 5:00 pm, Tuesdays until 8:00 pm, Saturdays until 6:00 pm, Sundays 12:00 noon to 5:00 pm. Closed major holidays. Admission charged. 803-898-4921, http://scmuseum.org/

Taylor-Canby Surrender Site Citronelle, AL

GA Civil War Sesquicentennial

